Knotted Friendship Bracelet

This is another kind of friendship bracelet, using lots of knots. It is a quite simple bracelet and it can be done with either thin or thick wool.

What you will need:

- Scissors
- Two different coloured balls of wool
- Sticky tape
- Ruler

Cut your wool to 60cm (it may need to be a little longer if you are making one for an adult)
Make two colour's of each so you will have four strands at 60cm.

1. Tie a knot

2. Stick onto a table or surface using the sticky tape.
Separate the colours

3. Tie your first knot from the left and pull tight. As you can see, the knot goes over under and through.

Hold the right-hand string tight and knot the other around it.

4. Tie your second knot from the right, then pull it tight holding onto the thread you are wrapping it around.

5. Continue with the knots, from left to right, until you have the right length. Tie a knot at the end and trim the tassels so they match and are long enough to tie up and will be able to fit on yours or your friends wrist.

Once you have finished, keep it, give it to someone at home or send it to a friend.

Once you have made a few it gets easier and faster.

If you do have the chance to make some lovely bracelets, please ask your parents to take a photo and send them my email address:
